Battle of Azeroth WoW: Unstable Fusion Core, Uldum Assault Published 07 March 2020 by Laerezh During Patch 8.3: Visions of N'zot from World of Warcraft: Battle of Azeroth, you probably got unstable Fusion Core during the Uldum attack. We invite you to find out what it is actually used for in our special guide. Among the most mysterious objects in patch 8.3: Visions of N'zot on World of Warcraft: Battle of Azeroth, Unstable Fusion Core is likely to win the Palme d'Or, and for good reason: few people know its true use! Let us solve this mystery once and for all. Where to get the unstable Fusion core? The unstable fusion core can be obtained randomly from representatives of the Amithket people in Uldum during the Titanic Uldum Attack. The creatures with the greatest chance of providing this object are: Selected amatet UldumTombeau Sun King79.00, 63.42 9% Kames, UldumTombe Blade Hartut64.41, 22.77 9% Ritualist solegr's UldumOb'lisques des Stars64.20, 29.64 8% Solegr's amat UldumTombe Hartutuu Steps of Destiny or Cursed Landing 7% King Faoris Vision meandering sands 7% Do I have a unstable Fusion Core, now? It's very simple! Visit Uldum, coordinates 78.03, 64.90, Tomb of the Sun King. On the site you will find Fusion Core Switch with which you can interact. What's the big idea? By clicking on the Fusion Core Switch, you will enter a new phase in which you will directly control the fusion core, similar to the one you control during the gnomeblateration quest during Uldu's original narration. Many amita troops are scattered near you and you just have to flip them (literally) to crush them. In doing so, you confirm the ongoing attack on Uldum at lightning speed. Only one key is available in this form: Fusion Propulsion moves the molten core forward. Warning: Only the Amiteta attack can be verified through the fusion nucleus. Attacking Akira and attacking the Black Empire do not require the killing of Amithet's troops, so using the unstable Fusion Core core during these attacks makes no sense (except that you spend your unstable Fusion Core core in a vacuum). Periodically, Uldum is attacked (Amitet or Black Empire) during Patch 8.3: N'Soot's Visions on World of Warcraft: The Battle of Azeroth. We invite you to discover everything these events can bring you: rare, quests and even bonus events! I think I was probably the only one who knew nothing about the seal of The Eroded Destiny, but in case the soul was lost as I was, I thought I would talk about it in the news ^^A every Monday morning, I'm going to do emissary quests that I didn't do last weekend. I see that Sombrivage is available, so I'm heading to this good old Willow, Lord of the Forest. My goal is to find a tremendous strength for my heart Azeroth, now L69. During the fight I say to myself: Gosh, do I still have a seal of fate erosion?. I open the coin tab and bartaf, printing is not available. So I won't be able to try my luck on the second roll and maybe get 750 AP. Once the boss is dead, I will return to Dazar'alor to put myself with zoran and there, immediately after buying the print, the game automatically offers me to try my luck again for the second booty on Ivus. Note that I didn't come out of the raid team, which probably explains why I was able to perform the manipulations. In other words, if you ever find yourself in the same situation as me, and you forget to stock up on seals for your World Boss or anything else, don't leave the raid team. Go to your merchant right now and buy it right now. I think that by leaving the raid group, voluntarily or not, you lose this opportunity, but it may be useful for some of you. And that's all I had to say ^^ potentially incomplete It's possible that some quests aren't yet referenced, just like some rare creatures or even rewards. If you found a rare creature, quest, bonus event or reward (or all four) that we wouldn't have invoked, please let us know as much information as possible, we would be very grateful! Important: Amita's assault lasts only 3 days and 12 hours and always precedes the assault of Akir in Uldum. Assault: Advanced Amatet This expedition is only available once for attack. If you do this, you will no longer be able to execute it until the next Amithket attack. Reward: 200x Visions coalescents 500 Reputation Points from Uldum Accord Level 445 Armor Piece OR 3000 Prodigious Power Points Daily quests are available every day, with a total of 3 daily quests available for each player, earning 225 reputation points from Uldum Agreement. These quests are available to everyone, regardless of whether you have completed the main expedition in relation to the ongoing attack! Enjoy it, each attack allows you to get 1,125 reputation points in total (without any bonuses!) Blind Led by Blind 9x Coalition Visions 75 Champions Amathet 10x Coalescent Visions 75 Elected Sun King 8x Coalescent Visions 75 Solar King of Scripture 10x Coalescent Visions 75 Artifacts Exhumed 10x Coalescent Visions The unusual core of 9x Coalescent Visions 75 Ancient Armor 10x Coalescent Visions 75 poachers hit 10x Coalescent Visions 75 All these quests have the chance to award in addition to their main rewards huge power points (about 100 per quest) or some military resources (30 to 35 per quest). Rare creatures Many rare creatures are available in Uldum during the Amithket attack. We decided to give you a detailed list of all available with their names where to find them, the number of health points they have and of course any interesting items they have to offer when they die. Important: No rare creature directly awards reputation to Ouldum agreement! These huge colossus have only the defect to be quite slow, even very slow. On the other hand, they do a lot of damage: most creatures in the area die when they suffer a single blow! By abusing it, it will save you a lot of time. The Battle of Uldum is a new faction available to the Alliance and the Horde in Patch 8.3: Visions of N'Soth from World of Warcraft: Battle of Azeroth. We offer you the first brief overview of this reputation with the elements that we have at the moment. It's time.
